Musician Spotlight: Nicole Wang

This month, we're excited to feature one of our most unique musical acts: Classical Pianist, Nicole Wang. Nicole was born in Chendu, China and began winning piano competitions at age six. After immigrating to the United States in 1992, Nicole studied with a variety of legendary pianists. In 2002, Nicole received her Bachelor's Degree in Music from Manhattan School of Music, and in 2004 she graduated with a Master's Degree in Music for Piano Performance from Temple University. Nicole has appeared as the guest soloist with several orchestras in the east-coast and has been appreciated by audiences throughout United States.

The Greens at Greenwich has had the privilege of hosting Nicole in our community for the past year. During each performance, Nicole not only fills our halls with stunning piano music, but also spreads joy bringing her two companions and musical accompaniment: beautiful singing birds. Between songs, Nicole shares stories about her birds, showing them to each resident individually. She encourages residents to listen closely as her Budgerigar vocalizes phrases like "I love you," "aren't you a sweetheart?" and "give me a kiss." Nicole's birds have gotten comfortable in our home and are happy to perch on a resident's shoulder or sit calmly in their hands. There's nothing more heart-warming than combining a love of music and animals, and we get the perfect combination of both with Nicole's extraordinary performance.
